Traditional Classroom Learning

As the foundation of our integrated learning approach, the classroom experience has become a more enriching, dynamic and valuable learning experience for students. Classroom Learning students have their own networked environments, which enable instructors to manage hands-on lab demonstrations and exercises that mirror the professional environment. Classroom Learning has been enhanced to include Web-based resources, such as tutorials and simulations, during and after class. A post-assessment is completed by every student to gauge the return on a company's investment and measure increased productivity.

Mentored Learning

Mentored Learning merges multiple learning styles to create an effective and efficient learning process. This is accomplished through a learning environment which provides students with simultaneous access to information delivered via audio and video, a simulated production environment, and a mentor to guide them through the process and provide one-on-one support. Students control the content covered and the pace at which they learn so they can focus on the specific skills they need to achieve their goals.

Hands-on practice reinforces those skills and one-on-one support and guidance from a certified instructor increase comprehension and retention of course material. In addition, the training schedule is flexible so courses fit into the student's busy work and personal life. The result is a truly learner-centric training solution that meets the needs of a multitude of students with varying skill levels and learning preferences.

The New Generation of Microsoft Certifications

New Horizons, a Microsoft Gold Certified Partner

Microsoft Certification has always been the mark of undeniable expertise. Managers and potential employers know they can entrust their projects to Microsoft Certified Professionals. These individuals have acquired critical on-the-job skills. They've proven their commitment to professional excellence. And they've validated their knowledge of Microsoft products and platforms.

- MCP - Microsoft Certified Professional
- MCSA - Microsoft Certified Systems Administrator
- MCSE - Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer
- MCSD - Microsoft Certified Systems Developer
- MCDBA - Microsoft Certified Database Administrator
- MCAD - Microsoft Certified Application Developer
- MCDST - Microsoft Certified Desktop Support Technician
- MCTS - Microsoft Certified Technical Specialist
- MCITP - Microsoft Certified IT Professional
- MCAS - Microsoft Certified Application Specialist

The New Generation of Microsoft Certifications are:

Targeted

Each certification focuses either on job-specific technical or professional skills so IT professionals can get the certification that meets their precise needs.

Cost-effective

A shorter and more straightforward exam path costs less and enables individuals to acquire relevant expertise without consuming valuable business time.

Rigorous

New advanced testing technologies more accurately validate the skill set of certification applicants.

Relevant

Certifications are now more relevant to the latest technologies. And the new streamlined credential structure makes it easier for managers to recognize candidates that have the right skill set for the job.

Microsoft Certified Technology Specialist (MCTS)

A Microsoft Certified Technology Specialist (MCTS) certification validates an IT Professional's core technical skills on a specific Microsoft product. Microsoft Certified Technology Specialists have demonstrated in-depth knowledge and expertise in implementing, building, troubleshooting, or debugging a particular Microsoft technology.

The Microsoft Certified IT Professional (MCITP)

From constructing more secure and stable databases to designing business intelligence solutions, data transformations and reports, a Microsoft IT Professional (MCITP) certification highlights an IT Professional's specific area of expertise in the IT environment.

The Microsoft Certified Professional Developer (MCPD)

A Microsoft Certified Professional Developer (MCPD) certification validates a comprehensive set of skills required to be successful on the job. These skills include design, project management, operations management, and planning. Because it is contextual to the job role, each MCPD provides hiring managers with a reliable indicator of on-the-job performance.

The Microsoft Certified Architect (MCA)

The Microsoft Certified Architect (MCA) programs identify top industry experts in IT architecture. Microsoft Certified Architects have proven experience with delivering solutions and can communicate effectively with business, architecture, and technology professionals. These professionals have three or more years of advanced IT architecture experience; possess strong technical and leadership skills; and form a tight-knit, supportive community. Candidates are required to pass a rigorous Review Board interview conducted by a panel of experts. The MCA credential was built by and for industry architects.
